

Senior Trader

Reports to: Joanna Horton
Department: Trading
Location: Dallas, TX
Salary: Competitive

Who are we? Our firm is one of the industry's top providers of institutional agency brokerage services and independent research. For over 30 years, we have provided agency trading and independent investment research products to investment managers and plan sponsors. We are an independently owned brokerage firm which allows us to address the diverse needs of fund managers, money managers and broker-dealers alike, while remaining objective and unbiased when it comes to providing the best possible execution services. We offer global equity and fixed income trading and are a member of the NYSE, FINRA, and SIPC.

Who is our ideal candidate? Our ideal candidate will have a minimum of five years of trading experience. A college degree is preferred, but not required. The candidate must currently hold the series 7 and 63 and 55 license.

What are the job responsibilities? The responsibilities of a senior trader include, but are not limited to, execution of orders, building client relationships including customer service, trade processing including allocations and corrections, travel and extensive work with CAPIS sales force.

What else can we tell you? CAPIS offers a competitive compensation package that includes health and dental benefits, 401(k) plan with employer match, life insurance, long-term care and opportunities for career advancement and professional growth. CAPIS is looking for qualified local candidates.
