

CAPIS Promotes John Naudo to Director of Global Trading

Dallas, November 11, 2014 – Capital Institutional Services, Inc. (CAPIS), one of the industry’s leading institutional agency brokerages, today announced that John P. Naudo has been promoted to the director of global trading. He will be responsible for the global equity, fixed income, derivatives, portfolio and transition management trading desk. Naudo was most recently the director of international trading.

“In today’s environment, offering a competitive global trading desk is more important than ever,” said Jim Morrow, chief operating officer. “During John’s time managing the international trading desk, we saw business grow by nearly 100 %. With his extensive experience and keen understanding of what clients need, we expect that trend to continue as he takes over the global trading desk.”

“At CAPIS, we strive to deliver transparent, straightforward business practices to give clients exceptional execution services and commission management solutions,” Naudo said. “I look forward to applying what I’ve learned at the international trading desk to the global trading desk to ensure a high standard of service throughout.”

Naudo brings more than 20 years of industry experience to the position. Prior to joining CAPIS, he spent 12 years as the director of pan-European equities sales trading at Credit Suisse in London. He also worked on Merrill Lynch’s desk as a pan-European equities sales trader. An FSA-registered equities and derivatives representative, Naudo maintains Series 3, 7, 24 and 63 licenses.
